PHILIMAN HOLCOMBE, D. S.

HAGUE, August 16.

THE Council o the city of Amsterdam has resolved to suspend his Serene Highness the Prince of Orange from his office of Stadtholder, Admiral General, &c. and to retain all his revenues and emoluments, to pay the corps of armed citizens, who, they say, will form a line from Haagsche Schouw, near the city of Leyden, as far as Woerden, apparently to fix a NE PLUS ULTRA to the Prussian troops.

August 19. We yesterday received an account that the auxiliary camp at Woerden had struck their tents, and were marching down by the Rhine. In the evening we received further accounts that they were pursuing their march apparently towards the Hague, upon which ten men per company were ordered to be under arms, and a detachment sent to Hoornburg, with str & orders not to let any armed men pass, and to repulse force by force.

A considerable part of the garrison, both horse and foot, are encamped in the Mall, and several detachments posted on the road. All these precautions clearly shew the general ferment that prevails. The Magistrates have been assembled, and the Burgher Captains have requested to have their different corps under arms, and they were accordingly all ordered to be ready at a moment's warning, and furnished with a good number of rounds of ball cartridges. Various are the reports spread upon these circumstances, and the populace seem quite ripe for the commission of excesses.

We learn that General Vander Dussen, Governour of Bois le Duc, has sent a letter to the Council of State, informing them, that for some days past many French soldiers, in troops of ten or twelve, furnished with passports from M. d'Esterhazi, General of the French artillery, and furloughs, to go into a foreign country for a year, have passed through that place in their way to Gorinchem. Upon this four Provinces have resolved not to receive the above men; at the same time four Provinces resolved to put a stop to the enlisting of men for the Province of Holland, and to give notice to that province to cease enlisting, as being a concern which only regards the Generality.

The following memorial has been presented to the States General by Sir James Harris, Envoy Extraordinary from his Britanic Majesty.

High and Mighty Lords.

The King, animated with the truest and most sincere sentiments of friendship for your High Mightinesses, cannot, without extreme pain, see the continuation of the unfortunate troubles which subsist in the Republic of the United Provinces; and which by their continuation, threaten the most grievous consequences.

The memorials, which the undersigned Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, has presented to your High Mightinesses, since he had the honor to reside here, have shewn, that the King his Master, as a good friend and neighbour of the Republic, has never ceased desiring to see peace re-established; and his Majesty will be always disposed to co-operate on his part in such manner as your High Mightinesses may judge proper.

His Majesty having observed that the States of the Provinces of Zealand and Frizeland, have declared their disposition to ask the mediation of some neighbouring powers, (in case that your High Mightinesses judge such intervention necessary) and that of Zealand has called to mind, on this occasion, the repeated assurances which the King has given of his friendship for the United Provinces; the undersigned has express orders to assure your High Mightinesses, that his Majesty has constantly strongly at heart the re establishment of the tranquillity of the Republic, the preservation of the true Constitution, and the maintenance of the just rights and privileges of all its members. His Majesty sees the greatest satisfaction, in having reason to think that the internal means furnished by the constitution itself, have power sufficient to accomplish so salutary an object. But at the same time, if your High Mightinesses are decided, that it is necessary to recur to a foreign mediation, and to invite his Majesty; then, in natural consequence of his affection, and of his good will for the Republic, the King will be eager to prove to your High Mightinesses, his sincere desire to employ all the care that may depend on his Majesty to bring the negociation to a happy, solid, and permanent issue.

JAMES HARRIS.

LONDON, JULY 11.

THE following great improvements are in projection at the Court of St. Petersburgh: —1. To unite the Caspian to the rivers Sudkilma and Nordkilma. This canal will be 20 werfts in length, and will have two sluices. A Mr. Van Suchtelen has the job, and his estimate of expences amount to near half a million of rubles. 2. To unite the Baltic to the Caspian Sea by the rivers Whitgra and Koscha. The canal of junction will be 60 werfts in length, and will have above 40 sluices; the expence of which must be very great. Major Wilt, the engineer, has taken this upon him. 3. To unite the Baltic and the Black Sea, by a double canal traversing White Russia, and which opens a communication between Cherson, Petersburgh and Riga. This immense work will be 200 werfts in length, and will cost from nine to ten millions of roubles.

July 21. Yesterday goods to the amount of ten thousand pounds were entered at the custom house for France, the principal part was earthern ware, that article being very scarce in that country,

Extract a letter from a gentleman at Petersburgh, Virginia, to his correspondent at Edinburgh, dated June 3, brought by the Blandford.

" In February last I sent you a commission for a few articles. I would now wish you to decline shipping them, if attended with no inconvenience to you, as from the present situation of this country (occasioned by the weak laws and unsettled government) I do not think I would be justifiable in entering into any new engagements At the Convention now met at Philadelphia, which is composed of Delegates appointed by the different states, in order to revise the federal constitution, it is expected that they will adopt such measures as will enable Congress to act with stability, and give force and permanency to their laws. At present they are destitute of every power, and only possess the name. I hope they will place power somewhere, for they are now as a great body without a head "

August 10 By a gentleman who left Lisle on Tuesday last, we are assured, that all the horses and carriages in that neighbourhood are busily employed in the transport of cannon and ammunition; and that an express arrived there a few hours before he left it, notifying, that orders had been issued for the march of 60,000 troops towards Holland.

Mr Grenville's abilities demand employment, and in Holland he will have room for them all. Perhaps as that country may soon be the seat of war—even with all the talents of Sir James Harris, somewhat additional may not be found useless.

The troops of the Stadtholder, it is said, have to thank this country for present pay and good quarters The sum to the amount of one hundred and fifty thousand pounds.

A whole Dutch family have been reduced to beggary in a few minutes, by the rage of a civil war A prodigious quantity of small masses of gold and silver, for the purpose of making touch needles, were seized by the troops of the states, belonging to this family, attached to Orange cause. And a very ingenious young man, in his hurry of escaping from the enemy, lost a tapis electricus, or stone gathered at Ceylon, which had the power of attracting and repelling small light bodies; which so affected him that he shot himself!

August 21. It is likewise said, that in consequence of what has passed between the Courts of France and Berlin, his Prussian's Majesty has ordered his army to proceed no farther; and has sent a memorial to the French Court, with a view to the perfect reinstatement of the Stadtholder in all his functions, with every solemnity that can give brilliancy to his fresh inauguration.

In the Utrecht Gazette of the 13th of this month, an extract is inserted of a memorial from the Baron de Rheede, Envoy extraordinary from their High Mightinesses at the Court of Berlin to the States General, informing them, that the Prussian Court had proposed to that of Versailles some points on which a mediation might be begun with respect to the affairs of Holland. The points are said to be, that the military shall be recalled from the province of Utrecht; that the differences subsisting in the city of Utrecht shall be left to the decision of mediators; that the province of Holland shall not force the other provinces to annul their regulations of Government; that the suspension of the Captain General shall be revoked, and the government of the Hague restored to the Prince; that the Princess shall be requested to return to Holland, and that the licentiousness of the press shall be restrained

The King of Prussia's last memorial is worded in such a manner as to convince the patriots that he is in earnest; and that they have nothing now to depend on but the friendship of the French Court Comply with the King of Prussia's memorial they certainly cannot, and he does not appear to be one of those whom fine speeches and delays will have any effect upon.

Extract of a letter from Tangiers, July 8.

" The English Consul General is returned within these eight days from the Moorish Court, and has agreed with his Moorish Majesty, that all that has passed shall be forgotten on both sides. The exorbitant duties on horned cattle transported from hence to Gibraltar, are lessened and reduced to the standard of former treaties. The English Consul has obtained permission to build a house, but has not been able to succeed in his purpose of establishing factories at Larache and Martin, the port of Tetuan. The good dispositions of the King of Morocco towards the English have been bought at the following prices.

" List of presents made by the English Consul to the Emperor of Morocco.

" First day's audience. Two very elegant gold watches, valued at 600l. sterling each. These his Majesty demanded, they are set with diamonds and emeralds, and are the same he presented Major Curtis with in 1783. Five pieces of superfine cloth, making together 130 ells: Six pieces of fine cambric, a small carriage or chaise with a head; two boxes of liquors, containing each 20 bottles; one chest of tea, and two of sugar.

" Second audience. Two pieces of superfine cloth, making together 180 ells; two pots of porcelain filled with confectionary.

" Third audience An elegant gold watch, set in diamonds. It is much doubted here whether the reconciliation between the Court of London and that of Morocco, will be lasting."

The French Court it is positively asserted, have given their ultimatum to England, Prussia &c. in a manner highly satisfactory to all parties They have also informed the Dutch patriotic party, that they cannot consistently interfere in their dispute, as their precipitancy in suspending the Stadtholder from his hereditary offices, admitted neither of palliation nor justification; that they wholly disapproved the violence of their proceedings; and that their friendly mediation had in view the general tranquillity of the Republic, rather than the exciting of intestine commotion, and encouraging the ravages of a civil war. To this effect the Marquis de Verac, the French Ambassador at the Hague, by order of his Court, has communicated to their Mightinesses.

Yesterday's mail from Ostend seems to confirm the opinion, that the States of Holland, alarmed by a separation of the confederacy, the number of people that have left the province, and the quantity of specie sent out of the country to other banks for security; to which may be added, the decay of trade, and a prospect of their commerce being diverted into another channel, if the troubles should continue; seem to be returning to reason, and are sat down to consider of the terms proposed for an accommodation, which may probably have the desired effect. In Austrian Flanders, however the prospect is far different; the Brabanters talk of opposing the Emperor to the utmost, who however, is not to be diverted from his purpose, and by the troops now nearly in motion towards that quarter, will carry by force, what he has before put in the semblance of recommendation.

BOSTON, October 6.

WE are informed by a gentleman lately arrived from Paris, that by an arret of the Council of the King of France, passed the 24th of last May, the PORT LOUIS, in the isle of France, had been declared a free port, and opened to the American trade.

A few days ago arrived in this town, from l'Orient, [France] and since set off for New York, THOMAS BARCLAY, Esquire, Agent from the United States to the Court of Morocco, for concluding a treaty of amity and commerce at whose conduct in the negociations at the above court, Congress, as expressed by their resolution of the 3d July last, were well pleased.

NEW-YORK, October 9.

ON Saturday sennight the ceremony of opening Malden Bridge, near Boston, was performed by firing a cannon, and the regaling of the workmen, at the expence of the proprietors. In the afternoon the established toll was received from all passengers who crossed the bridge.

A gentleman, lately returned from Cadiz, relates a very ludicrous affair, which happened in that city about the middle of June last. The Monks of the great convent of Capuchins having punished their cook a little too severely for getting drunk, he mixed a quantity of opium in their sauce at supper, and when they were fast asleep shaved their Reverence's beards, and made his escape before they were able to rise in the morning. The poor Monks remain confined to their convent, till their beards shall acquire a decent size to render it practicable for them to appear in public, with their friends

OCTOBER 11.

Extract of a letter from Rousau, Dominica, dated Sept. 19, 1787.

" You have no doubt been informed ere this, of our great sufferings here, occasioned by the hurricanes in the course of a few days in last month, which have laid in ruins almost every building in this colony."

Further accounts from Dominica say that, every dragger and small craft are entirely lost; twelve ships and brigs in the harbour of Rousau, was all destroyed; that two thirds of the coffee crops are ruined, and the sugar canes, &c very much damaged.

Extract of a letter from England dated August 28; by the Adamant, Capt. Morwick.

" The affairs of Holland will, I understand, be terminated without a war; and the States, at last are likely to submit to the Stdtholder. France, now it comes to the point, I suppose flies off. Indeed they seem to have enough to do at home, as the King is quarreling with his Parliament, who are all banished from Paris, for refusing to register his edict for a Stamp Duty, or rather spiritedly remonstrating against it: — and I should not be much surprised, now the spirit of Liberty is gone forth, if the Stamp Act makes as much noise in France as it has done elsewhere."

PHILADELPHIA, OCT. 3.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Paris, to his friend in Baltimore, dated August 6, 1787.

THE account of the public revenue having being laid before the several boards, it has been found that the interest of the American debt had been very irregularly paid, of which it was impossible [illegible] boards not to make mention. In this delicate juncture, the Marquis de la Fayette gave a very satisfactory account of the solidity of the American debt, saying, no debt contracted by England, France or any other European power, could be founded on so good a basis; that besides the arguments that ought to be derived from their magnanimous national character, that debt had been settled on immense tracts of the most fruitful lands, which were eagerly sought for and purchased by crowds of migrators, and were the property of the Federal Government. He could not, therefore, suppose there might be the least uncertainty on the minds of the committee respecting the principal of that debt; and it is with great propriety that government had formerly rejected the idea of selling it to a company under a small loss. But as it might be natural for some to think, that necessity to refit a country from the desolation of war, to give the Federal Government that perfection which it still may acquire and every circumstance resulting from the situation of the country after the glorious, happy, but dearly-purchased revolution, would make it difficult for the United States to be very punctual for some time to come. He declared, that not the smallest want of punctuality would have taken place, had the selfish views of the farmers general, and many prejudices about American produce, which experience will destroy, permitted the United States to liberate themselves with those commodities which are paid in gold to other nations. He then spoke of the consent of twelve states to the 5 per cent. that are more than sufficient to fulfil every engagement; of the Convention to be held in Philadelphia; and represented the credit of the United States in the most satisfactory point of view. I hear that the notables have spoken of the American debt with great Delicacy, apologizing for the want of payment: But how can our American brethren reconcile it to their feelings, to be so deficient in punctuality?"

A late London news paper mentions, the right honourable Lord Hood, would be appointed to the command of a very formidable fleet, which was equipping with the greatest expedition for the channel service.

Oct. 12. A drill of Col. Morgan's construction is to be seen at Carpenters Hall. This machine has an additional box for sowing of ashes, or other powdered manure, over the grain. This Drill is intended for rice; but when they are intended for wheat or rye, they are to be made to sow at eight or thirteen inches apart, and with four or five rows, at the option of the farmer. In ground perfectly clear of stone, the distance of eight or thirteen inches might be preferable, but in stoney ground eleven, twelve, or thirteen inches will be necessary. The construction is so simple, that any workman can make the Drill, without the manure box, for fifty-two shillings and six pence. In turning at the head land, the driver has only to hold the wheel on the side he turns to, in order to prevent the shedding of the seed In turning, and the driver will have no other difficulty than to keep one wheel on the last furrow; but it will be necessary to have a boy to watch the Drill, to see they shed the seed, as sometimes the Drill will choke If the ground be wettish, the driver must then stop, and open the passage with his finger or bit of stick. If the notches are not large enough, any person with a knife, or a chisel, may enlarge them by only scraping them a very little; the box is so contrived to raise or lower, to sow more or less seed at pleasure.

Congress have appointed his Excellency ARTHUR ST. CLAIR, Esquire, now President of Congress, to be Governour of the Western territory of the United States, with a salary of one thousand dollars per annum, and to exercise the office of superintendant of Indian affairs, and to receive the pay and emoluments of the same, amounting to about eight hundred dollars per annum.

From a Providence paper.

There are now living four sisters. viz. Mrs. Brigges, of Berkely, aged 90 years—Mrs. Smith, of Rehoboth, aged 86—Mrs. Peck of Rehoboth, aged 74--and Mrs. Viall, of Barrington, aged 70 (the daughters of a Mr Samuel Whiteaker) whose ages together amount to 320 years--none of whom have been disobedient to the Divine command, having each a numerous offspring to perpetuate the memory of a natural mother. and furnish society with sufficient cause to bless those mothers in Israel.

RICHMOND, Oct. 25.

TUESDAY last the Richmond Jockey Club purse of one hundred guineas, was run for and won by ACTÆON, the property of Dandridge Claiborne, Esq; of New Kent, beating five others, after running three four mile heats. The purse on the day following was also wone by a mare of Mr. Claiborne's.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman in London, dated July 17, 1787, to his correspondent in this City.

"The additional duty on British ships, &c. laid by the last General Assembly of Virginia, is in my opinion, a wise measure, but would be much more so if it was general throughout the United States. It has raised the value of American ships here, and they carry out most of the goods this season. It will also probably have the effect of inducing this haughty nation to condescend so far as to negociate a treaty of commerce with us.

"The disturbances of Holland become daily more serious, and it is not improbable that a general war in Europe may be the fatal consequences. Happy for America that she is at a distance from those broils."
